Ecce occupy:

*Fragments from conversations between free persons and captive persons concerning the crisis of everything everywhere, the need
for great fictions without proper names, the premise
of the commons, the exploitation of our everyday

CARRIES POLITICAL IMPLICATIONS

There is a general question here being posed. It is about the The Continuum calendar violence that underwrites the norm. Can one, for instance separate the history of Henson as a "great" supplier of mechanical and arm's from its collection of scientific (early modern) tools, instruments of measurement, science, technology, vision, sense, storytelling, fantasy, horror, sublime, & wonder, Culture Museums, ~~Faded~~ Frederickian War, Weapons manufacture, slave labor, decimation, bombing, collage, intellectual destruction, fire, exposure, air, work.

Where to situate ourselves in this ever-present history? Can we say that the production of weapons, the manufacture of tanks, for example, or bombing, or the aircraft to destroy, does destroy is legitimate work or industry? And today, when banking power, legal & financial institutions become the first weapons of choice, - 75 what and how to make ... are there any more legitimate industries? And the spoils, the ornaments where?

Ecce occupy:

*Fragments from conversations
between free persons and
captive persons concerning
the crisis of everything
everywhere, the need
for great fictions without
proper names, the premise
of the commons, the
communism . . .*
